Impossible Things.

1. To escape troubles by running away from duty. Josah once made the experiment, but he did not succeed. Therefore manfully meet and overcome the difficulties and trais to which the post assigned you by God's Providence ex-

2. To become a Christian of strength and maturity without undergoing reveral tria's. What fire is to gel?, such is sill clion to the believer. It batts up the diess, and makes the gold shine forth with usalloyed lestre.

3. To form an independent character except when thrown upon one's own resources. The eak in the middle of the forest, if surrounded on all sid s by tree-that shelter and shade it, rune up tall and comparatively feeble; cur away its protectors, and the first blast will overturn it. But the same tree, growing in the o; ea field, where it is continually beaten, upon by the tempest, becomes its own protector. So the man who is compelled to rely on his own rusources forms an independence of character to which he could not otherwise have obtained.

4. To be a growing man by locking to your position in society for influence, instead of bringing is flu nee to your position. There-fore, pref r rather to elimb up the hill of diffe culty, than be steamed up by a power outside
